

The left and right "arms" are split into four pieces. The mounting arm is two subpieces.

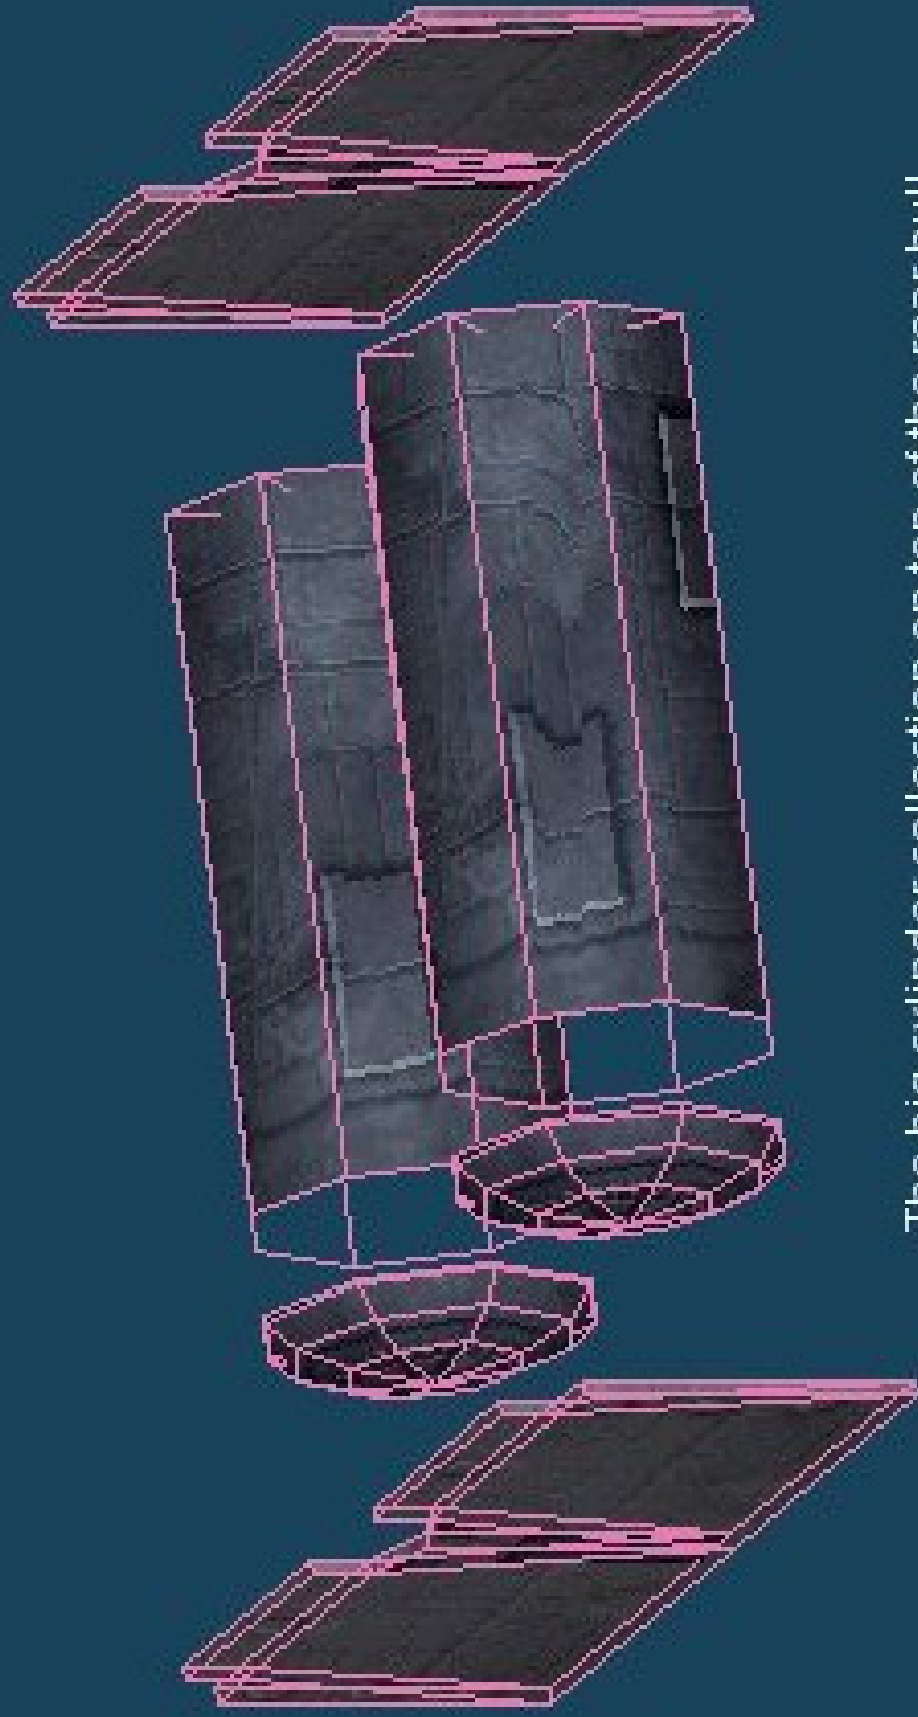

There is also an additional ring for support inside the upper dish

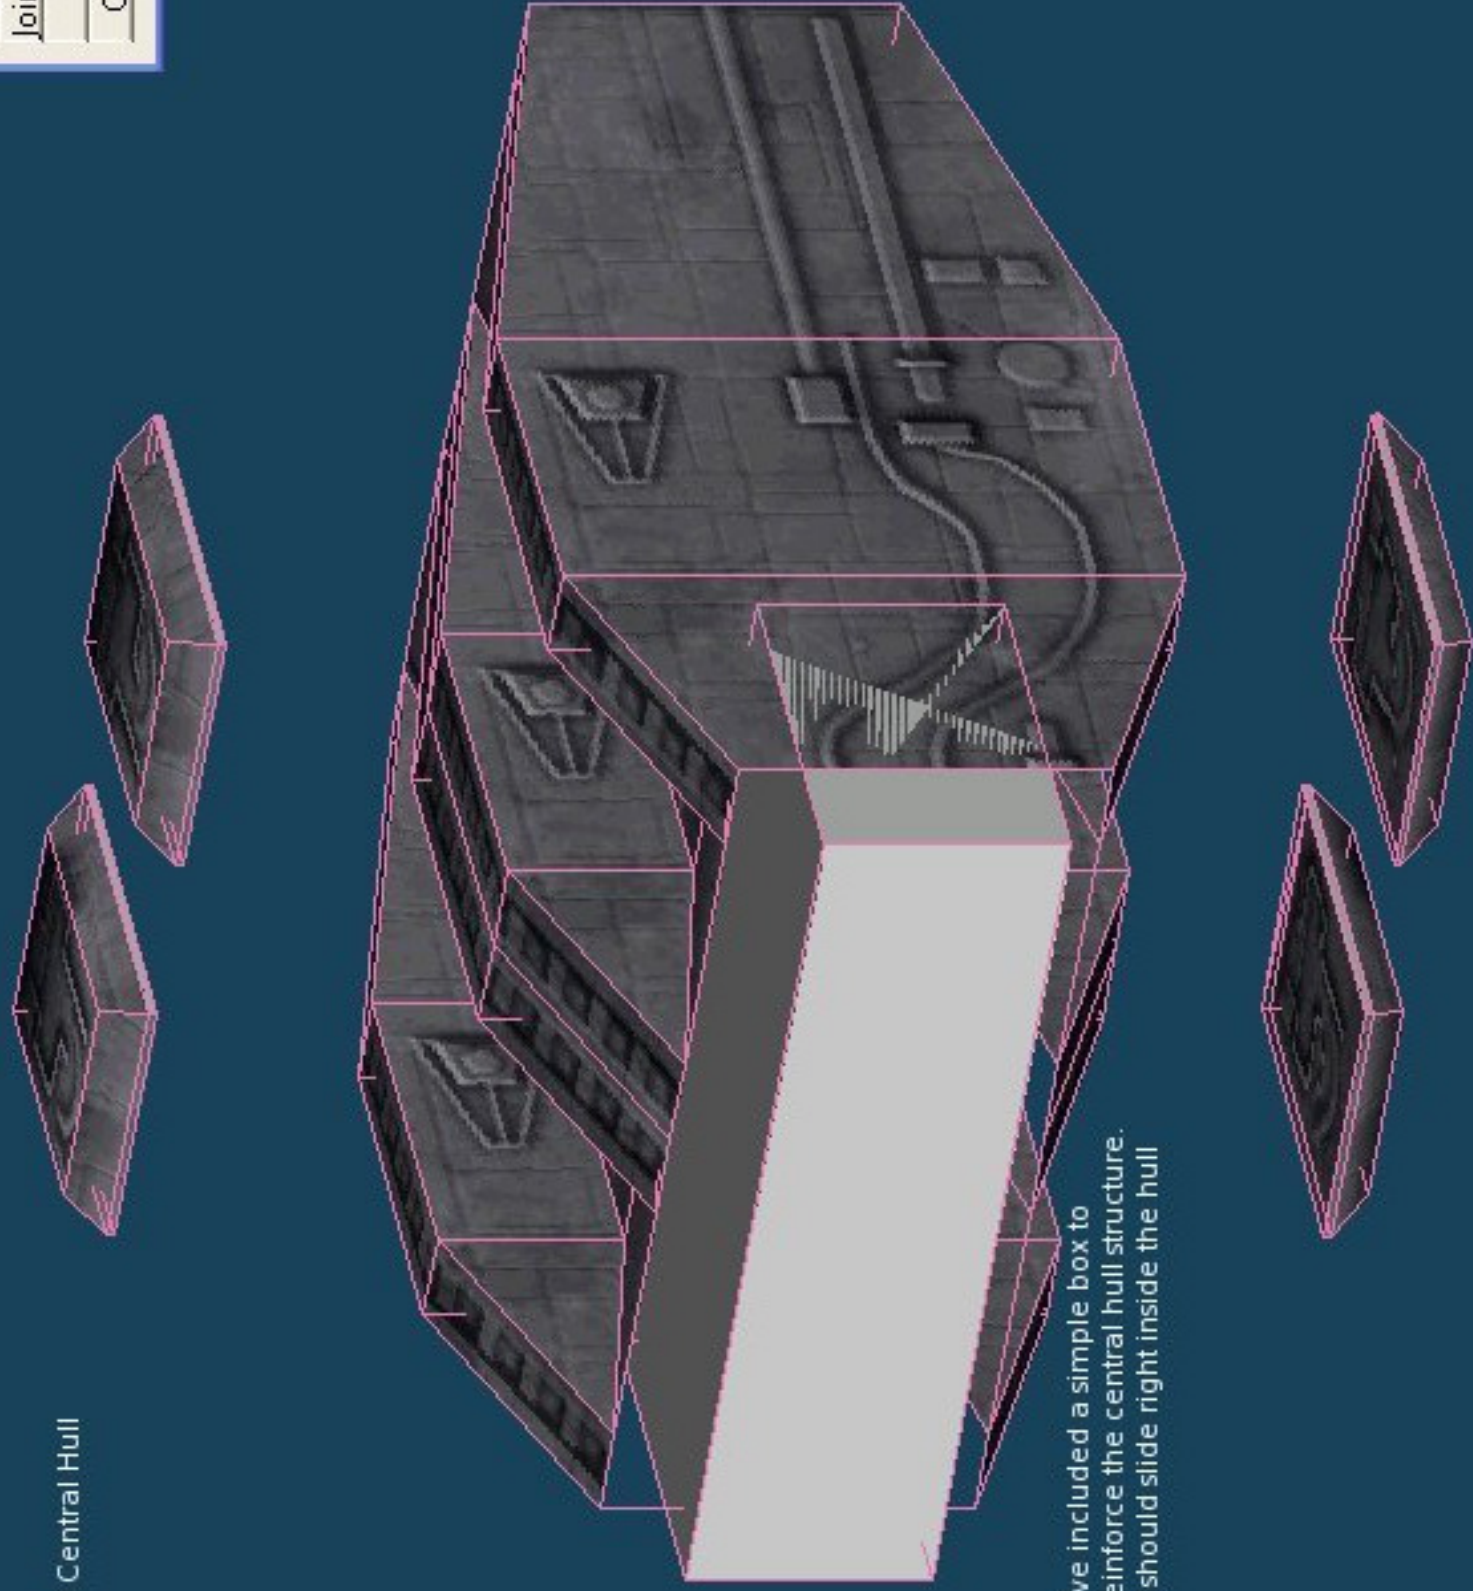

Extra ring is for internal support within the base

The big cylinder collection on top of the rear hull

The Central Hull

I've included a simple box to reinforce the central hull structure. It should slide right inside the hull

